Subrosa Group: Unrivalled Expertise in Security, Risk Management & Corporate Investigations

Subrosa Group's close protection teams managed an international travel itinerary incorporating several European cities for one of our clients' private trips. The deployment of both male and female operatives ensured all family members had effective security at all times. Flexibility was the key, whilst professionalism was of the highest calibre. Great team and great job!"

Subrosa Group Company Structure

With decades of industry expertise, Subrosa Group (SRG) has built a global reputation as an innovative and highly trusted security provider, delivering unmatched customer service across all aspects of corporate, commercial, and individual security.

Founded by former Special Forces operatives, Subrosa's CEO and COO forged their partnership over 30 years ago under extreme circumstances—meeting for the first time while undergoing compulsory capture and interrogation during an escape and evasion exercise in Europe. This unique foundation of trust, resilience, and strategic thinking became the cornerstone of their business and remains at the heart of Subrosa Group today.

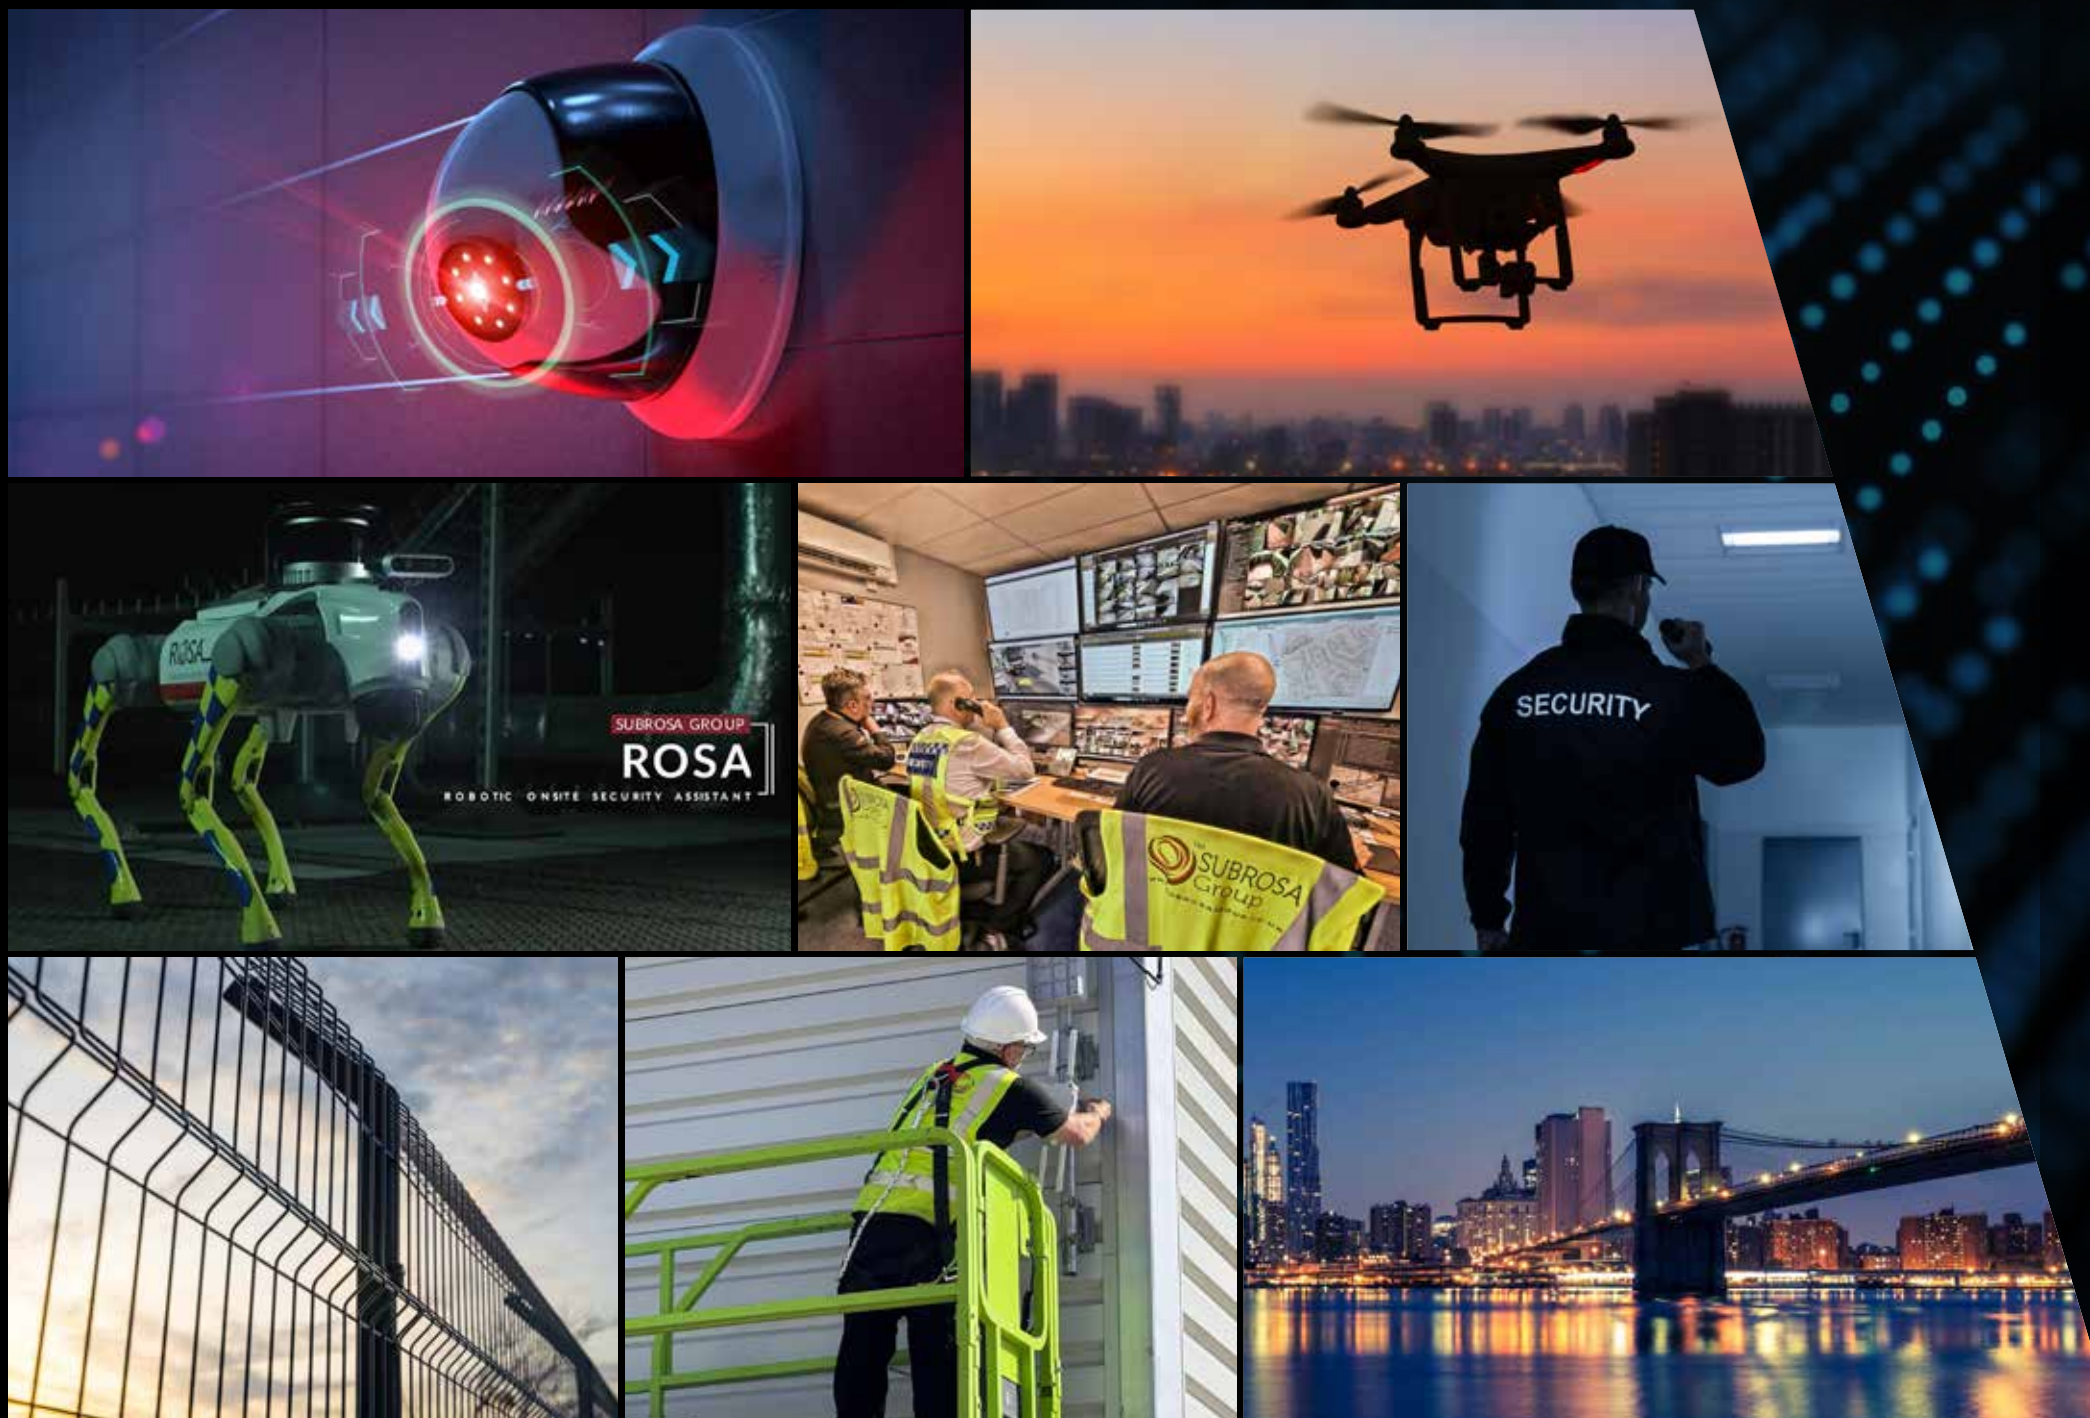

The company is still led by its founders, who personally oversee SRG Special Projects, while ensuring that all Subrosa Divisions – Cyber, Technical Security, Manned Security, International Operations, and Corporate Investigations – operate with the same hands-on, expert-driven approach. Each division is led by specialist directors, supported by elite teams of former government intelligence officers, police investigators, and Special Forces personnel, ensuring a level of capability, discretion, and investigative expertise that few can match.

Operating nationally and internationally, Subrosa Group provides risk management, corporate and fraud investigations, technical security, cyber security, and intelligence-led protective services to corporate clients, commercial industries, and ultra-high-net-worth individuals.

Whether conducting fraud investigations, uncovering internal threats, mitigating corporate espionage, or deploying tailored security measures, Subrosa delivers a bespoke, highly personal service, ensuring people, assets, and reputations remain protected in an increasingly complex and unpredictable world.

Our Vision and Mission

VISION STATEMENT

At Subrosa Group, our vision is to be the global leader in security, risk management, and intelligence services, setting the benchmark for innovation, discretion, and excellence.

We are committed to delivering unparalleled security solutions that protect people, assets, and reputations, ensuring peace of mind in an increasingly complex world.

By leveraging cutting-edge technology, elite personnel, and strategic foresight, we continuously evolve, adapt, and lead in the face of emerging threats.

MISSION STATEMENT

Our mission at Subrosa Group is to provide bespoke, intelligence-led security solutions to corporations, governments, and private individuals worldwide.

Built on a foundation of trust, resilience, and expertise, we deliver proactive threat mitigation, cyber resilience, corporate investigations, and elite protection services.

With a hands-on approach and unrivalled expertise, we integrate physical, technical, and strategic security measures to safeguard our clients in every environment.

By combining innovation, discretion, and operational excellence, we ensure that our clients remain secure, informed, and prepared—no matter the challenge.

Subrosa Group was engaged to assist on a particularly challenging investigation. Their professionalism, speed of reaction, resourcefulness and real time communication were exemplary. They achieved the desired outcome 100%. I cannot recommend them too highly."

CEO

International Family Office for High Net Worth Clients (May 2023)

Service provided: Executive Protection

I hired Subrosa Group for security and protection at three public events after repeated and credible death threats from a stalker. They were superb. Extremely well-prepared, discreet, wildly efficient, and a genuine pleasure to have around. There was no sense of siege, just care and caution, and the events went off without a hitch. I felt safe at all times, and given the fear that I'd started with, extremely grateful for their services. Very highly recommended."

Patrick Ness Author, Journalist, Lecturer & Screenwriter (March 2023)

Services provided: Stalking & Harassment Investigation, Personal Security

I have worked with Niall and his Subrosa team on more than four occasions, with clients from arts, music, television and major news stories. Niall and his team are superb – highly confidential and diligent. From security checks in properties, placing covert security, planning logistics and safe travel, handling secure transportation, to looking after individuals. There is no other firm I call when we need high level security for people in the public eye."

Subrosa Group's autonomous quadruped, "ROSA", redefines modern security with its advanced AI-driven surveillance capabilities.

Designed to operate in dynamic environments, ROSA patrols autonomously, detecting and assessing potential threats with advanced sensors, cameras, and real-time analytics.

Equipped with live video streaming and instant alert functionality, ROSA seamlessly transmits critical footage and security notifications directly to our 24/7 Security Operations Centre (SOC).

This ensures that threats are identified and assessed in real time, allowing for immediate intervention when necessary. Whether deployed for perimeter security, high-risk zones, or remote areas, ROSA enhances situational awareness and provides an unmatched layer of proactive security within the Subrosa Group's integrated security ecosystem.

Advanced Drone Surveillance & Intelligence Gathering

Subrosa Group's cutting-edge drone technology enhances security and intelligence operations through both overt and covert deployments by our expert audit and surveillance personnel.

Our high-performance Unmanned Aerial Vehicles are equipped with advanced imaging, thermal sensors, and live-streaming capabilities, providing real-time situational awareness in diverse environments.

Whether conducting aerial surveillance, perimeter patrols, or covert intelligence gathering, Subrosa Group's drones transmit live video feeds and instant alerts directly to our 24/7 Security Operations Centre.

This seamless integration enables rapid threat detection, evidence collection, and informed decision-making, ensuring proactive security and operational superiority across a wide range of missions.

Professional, Reliable, Flexible & Discreet

Security underpins every service SRG Group provides, safeguarding assets, personnel, and critical infrastructure well beyond project delivery.

Known for our reliability, diligence, flexibility and discretion, we have earned the trust of a discerning clientele — leading to long-term partnerships, repeat business, and personal recommendations.

SRG's reputation is built on exceptional personnel, primarily drawn from the world-renowned British Army Gurkhas—renowned for their expertise, loyalty, discipline, and unwavering professionalism.

Every security officer undergoes site-specific training, ensuring they are fully equipped to respond effectively to any situation.

Additionally, our integrated technology enables security personnel to conduct real-time patrol monitoring and deliver instant incident reports, enhancing situational awareness and response capabilities.

Our Manned Security Services Include:

- Security Guards
- Mobile Security Patrols

24/7 Protection through Technology and Expertise

Subrosa Group's our state-of-the-art 24/7 Security Operations Centre (SOC) and Alarm Receiving Centre (ARC) serve as the nerve centre of our global security infrastructure—delivering continuous monitoring, rapid response, and real-time coordination.

Staffed by highly trained operators, the SOC oversees a wide range of security inputs, including live CCTV feeds, alarm activations, and real-time video alerts from our autonomous ROSA quadrupeds. Every incident is assessed and actioned with speed and precision.

Fully integrated with our proprietary SafeCompanion and PRISM programme apps, the SOC ensures alerts from individuals or estates are instantly verified and escalated—providing immediate protection for people, property, and high-value assets.

When supporting global operations, our SOC also enables secure communication with deployed Close Protection Teams, maintaining situational awareness and enabling fast, informed decision-making.

Subrosa Group combines advanced surveillance technology, automation, and human expertise to deliver proactive threat detection and real-time intervention. Whether monitoring an urban residence, corporate headquarters, remote estate, or travelling principal, our SOC ensures you remain protected—anytime, anywhere.

When we have a data security concern, nothing is too much or too little for Subrosa Group to assist us with. The management team is readily available for liaison and are discreet and professional, applying fast and practical solutions under pressure."
